

EVIDENCE OF FRAGILITY

Underwhelming growth estimates come amid worrying data on agriculture

Five months after Chief Economic Adviser Arvind Subramanian predicted that economic growth was likely to be closer to 6.5% in the current fiscal year, the Central Statistics Office has forecast that the gross domestic product (GDP) would expand at precisely that pace in the 12 months ending in March. The headwinds that had been flagged by Mt. Subramanian at that time are providing to be the crucial factors dampening momentum. For one, gross value added, or GVA which excludes taxes that feature in the GDP number is projected to grow by 6.1%, slowing from a provisional 6.6% in 2016-17, as manufacturing and the agriculture, forestry and fishing components of GVA decelerate. Second, the key investment metric of gross fixed capital formation, though estimated to show faster growth, is expected to shrink in terms of proportion to GDP : to 29%, from 29.5% in the provisional estimates for 2016-17 and 30.9% in 2015-16. With the Index of Industrial Production (IIP) data released in mid-December also reflecting a sharp slowdown over the seven month period from April to October, there are signs that the rebound seen in the second quarter may be far more vulnerable to unravelling than previously considered. With agriculture struggling for traction, despite a 'normal' monsoon, the prospect of private final consumption expenditure regaining vigour in a hurry seems remote, especially since rural households make a sizeable contribution to aggregate demand. The forecast for consumption spending posit both a slowdown in growth to 6.3% in 2017-18, from 8.7% a year earlier, and a marginal contraction in share of GDP.

That softer growth estimates have come at a time when the government's fiscal deficit has already crossed the budget estimate for the full year, and GST collections are underwhelming, is a particular cause for concern. With Brent crude hovering around $67 a barrel, oil prices are now well above the $60-65 range that the Economic Survey had flagged as having the potential to undermine both consumption and public and private investment. Data on kharif food grain production used by the CSO in computing GVA in agriculture, while provisional, project an almost 3% drop in output in 2017-18. This raises the possibility of stronger inflationary pressures on food prices in the coming months. With consumer price inflation having accelerated in November to 4.88%, the fastest pace in 15 months, monetary authorities at the Reserve Bank of India will have little to no leeway to null interest rate reductions to support growth. On their part, policymakers must bank on building on the measures taken to unclog the credit pipelines, including the recent steps to recapitalise state owned lenders. Other initiatives must include moves to reenergise the export sector : there may be no better time to make the most of the 'fair winds' of a strong global economic rebound that are blowing.

Words

Predict

Fiscal

Forecast

Kind

Meaning

anticipate, call, conclude, envision, forecast, foresee, think budgetary, economic, financial, commercial, pecuniary budget, calculation, estimate, outlook, prognosis, projection, anticipation, augury, cast

Precisely	absolute, accurately, as well, correctly, literally, specifically, squarely, strictly flag	abate, deteriorate, ebb, fade, languish, sag, taper off, wane crucial	central, compelling, deciding, decisive, essential, imperative, momentous, necessary, pivotal, pressing, touchy, urgent, vital
Momentum	energy, power, strength, drive, force, impulse
Gross	great, heavy, hulking, husky, overweight, thick, adipose, big, bulky, dense, fleshy
Decelerate	brake, slow
Metric	cadent, measured, metrical, rhythmic
Shrink	decrease, diminish, drop off, dwindle, fall off, lessen, narrow, reduce, shorten, shrivel, wane, weaken, wither
Proportion	bulk, capacity, dimension, distribution, fraction, magnitude, percentage, portion, rate, ratio, scale, scope, share, volume
Rebound	overcome, pickup, revive, backfire, boomerang
Vulnerable	accessible, defenceless, exposed, liable, ready, sensitive, susceptible, unsafe, weak
Unravel	decipher, resolve, solve, undo, untangle, extricate
Traction	suction, absorption, adherence, adhesion, constriction, contraction
Despite	against, although, even though, even with, in contempt of in defiance of, in the face of
Vigour	robustness, hardiness, strength, stamina, fitness, toughness, muscle, power
Sizeable	colossal, considerable, enormous, gigantic, humongous, monumental, tremendous, vast, whopping, astronomic, epic
Posit	hypothesize, postulate
Contraction	decrease, deflation, recession, reduction, shrinkage, abbreviation, confinement, curtailment, elision, receding, reducing
Inflation	boom, expansion, hike, rise, boost, distension, enhancement, enlargement, escalation, extension, prosperity
Leeway	extent, headway, latitude, margin, play, scope, space
Mull	contemplate, deliberate, examine, ponder, weight, chaw, consider, delay, linger, wool-gather, revolve
Unclog	clean, clear away, clarify, eliminate, erase, free, open, ameliorate, brighten, cleanse, meliorate, purify, refine, rid.

RE-EXAMINE THE BILL

Concerns about the triple talaq Bill must not be dismissed as an attempt to sabotage it

The winter session of Parliament saw more political positioning than appraisal of a legislation to make instant triple talaq a criminal offence. With the Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Bill pending in the Rajya Sabha, the best option would be to refer it to a select committee to help bring about a consensus on how to address the problem of talaq-e-biddat, as there is no serious opposition to the principle that it is morally abhorrent and legally impermissible. The core question is whether resorting to an illegal and arbitrary form of divorce should necessarily lead to a prison term for the offending husband. A three year prison term, besides a fine, also raises the issue of proportionality. The Opposition has raised three concerns: whether a civil wrong, mainly a breach of a marriage contract in an arbitrary manner, ought to be treated as a crime; whether it is not a contradiction of sorts for the law to jail a husband for pronouncing instant talaq and also mandate that he pay a subsistence allowance to the wife; and whether making it a cognizable and non-bailable offence would lead to it being misused against Muslim men. Further, some see an internal contradiction in the way the law is sought to be framed. On the one hand it says instant triple talaq in any form is void, thereby declaring that the marriage continues to subsist; but it also talks of issues such as the custody of children and maintenance, which would arise only after a divorce. These are valid concerns and cannot be dismissed by the BJP as arguments aimed to sabotage the Bill.

The Bill is now in the Rajya Sabha, where the BJP and its allies do not have a majority. Some of its key allies, such as the AIADMK, the Telugu Desam Party and the Biju Janata Dal, are against the penal provision. The through in the Lok Sabha, but has taken the position that referring it to a parliamentary committee may help remove some lacunae. Initially the party appeared to question the prescription of a jail term, but it has raised a new question. It wants to know whether the government would take care of the sustenance of the woman concerned if her husband is jailed for uttering triple talaq. The dilemma before the Congress is that it cannot be seen as reprising the role it had played over 30 years ago in the Shah Bano episode, when it brought in legislation to scupper a Supreme Court verdict in favour of a Muslim woman's claim for maintenance. However, hasty legislation passed in the commotion of a divided House may not help the cause. A sound legal frame work to deal with all issues arising from instant talaq ought to be crafted after deeper consideration.

Words	Kind	Meaning
Consensus		accord, consent, harmony, unanimity, unity, concord
Abhorrent		despicable, loathsome, repulsive, detestable, offensive.
Core		basis, body, bottom line, crux, essence, focus, foundation, importance, origin, root, substance, thrust.
Arbitrary		capricious, discretionary, erratic, frivolous, inconsistent, irrational, irresponsible, random, subjective, unreasonable, wilful
Proportionality		proportion, quota, rate, scale, arrangement, correlation, equation, fraction
Ought		Concern, need, tax, care, commitment, committal, custody, duty, obligation, onus, responsibility, right, task, trust
Mandate		authorization, command, decree, directive, injunction, instruction, sanction
Subsistence		livelihood, ration, sustenance, affluence, aliment, alimentation, capital earning
Cognizable		appreciable, audible, detectable, discernible, distinct, distinguishable, observable, palpable
Contradiction		conflict, difference, disagreement, discrepancy, dispute, inconsistency, confutation, defiance, denial
Sought		Desired, hunted, needed, long for

Void	abandoned, bare, barren, clear, deprived, drained, free, lacking, scant subsist	get along, get by, scrape by, be, breathe, continue, last, live, endure custody	care, guardianship, protection, aegis, auspices, management, observation, preservation, salvation, safekeeping
Sabotage	destruction, disruption, subversion, treachery, treason, vandalism lacunae	break, cavity, depression, gap, hiatus, interim, interval, space
Initially	originally, at the beginning first
Sustenance	livelihood, nourishment, nutrition, subsistence, aliment
Dilemma	difficulty, embarrassment, impasse, mess, plight, predicament, problem, puzzle, quandry
Hasty	abrupt, careless, expeditious, hurried, ill-advised, impulsive, quick, rapid, reckless, sudden swift, urgent
Crafted	arrange, come up with, concoct, construct, craft, create, design, discover, forge, formulate, hatch, invent, mastermind, prepare, workout